Computer Networks Laboratory

The Laboratory is furnished for 27 seater occupancy. The lab involves the use of Network Simulator software, to simulate the design and operation of various types of wired and wireless communication networks and the algorithms used in computer communication networks.