Department of Management Studies, K S School of Engineering and Management presented a talk on Campus to corporate prerequisites for 2nd year MBA students on 13th May 2022 at 8.40 am. Campus to corporate training provides the transition from being a student to becoming a professional. Dr. Harish highlighted many important points on the significance of the training.

Carefully choosing a career will help to stay motivated and remain a star performer throughout one's career. Possessing better soft skills, the required technical skills, effective communication skills and a winning resume will help to face the interview with courage and confidence. Making a first impression as an effective contributor will make the process of transition easier. Mannerism, behaviour, the way one dresses up, the way one carries himself are some of the personality traits that set the tone for future success on the part of the employer. In today's competitive market these factors are very necessary to get the job. It not only helps in securing a job, it also helps to build strong employability - a necessary attribute to be successful in the chosen occupation and aids in developing one's individuality.

The guest was very happy with the interaction and the interest of the student and hopes for further interactions in future with the students.
