“IMPORTANCE OF HIGHER EDUCATION”

Agni Mithra Murari, an Alumnus of KSSEM Civil Department who completed his Master's in Structural Engineering from California State University shared his views on the topic of “Importance of Higher Education” with the final year Civil Engineering students.

He spoke about how higher education broadens one's knowledge & experience, and gives an individual an opportunity to succeed in today's global economy. He also shared his views on Higher education being considered as a focal point of knowledge and its application. He shared his experiences on how Higher education institutions assure the relevance of knowledge and help build the right skills to support productivity and growth and the influence of Higher education in technology and innovation.

The talk ended with an open discussion with the students who were interested to know about the pre-requisites for higher education, scope of various branches of Civil Engineering and career opportunities abroad.
