The Department of Computer Science and Engineering, KSSEM has conducted Webinar on “Non-Verbal Communication” in collaboration with Quantum Learnings -Center Of Excellence on 13th June 2021 from 11:00AM to 12:30PM (90 minute), through Zoom Online Platform.

Ms.Shivani Sharma from Freelancer, Communication skills, Knowledge Solutions India was the resource person for the day. She is expert in handling communication skills concepts for the students. During the webinar, she has explained the importance of non verbal communication.

speed of voice, posture, and stance all contribute to the message we send and receive when communicating.

Hence, nonverbal communication is just as important as verbal communication when it comes to workplace relationships. Both managers and employees should pay attention to the way in which they communicate with their bodies, as it can greatly affect the message conveyed.

Nonverbal communication can be:

- Repetition: It repeats and often strengthens the message you're making verbally.
- Contradiction: It can contradict the message you're trying to convey, thus indicating to your listener that you may not be telling the truth.
- Substitution: It can substitute for a verbal message. For example, your facial expression often conveys a far more vivid message than words ever can.
- Complementing: It may add to or complement your verbal message. As a boss, if you pat an employee on the back in addition to giving praise, it can increase the impact of your message.
- Accenting: It may accent or underline a verbal message. Pounding the table, for example, can underline the importance of your message.

Nonverbal communication skills are essential and can make it easier to convey your point and to read what others are trying to tell you. Some people seem to come by these skills quite naturally, but anyone can improve their nonverbal skills with practice.

Students of 4th and 6th sem have actively participated in the webinar. The final outcome of this webinar is to educate the students about the effectiveness of the non verbal communication in workplaces.
